

Experimental models of hypertension

* Non disclosable information for confidentiality reasons

Since each model exhibits specific characteristics and different sensitivity to reference anti-hypertensive agents, the choice of an hypertension model will be adapted according to the client's needs